The Steinway Wall of Sound features RoomPerfect™ technology that resolves all acoustic issues. The full Dolby Atmos® theater sound and Line Source Technology provide perfect sound reproduction at any point in the room. And it is all seamlessly hidden behind a retractable wall when not in use. This is just one of the many custom aspects of this exceptional home.

“What a team!
I hope we all get to work together again.”

FINISHING WELL

The quality of the last detail relies upon the caliber of the first.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME IS A PERFECT HARMONY OF AN OWNER'S vision, a designer's inspiration and a contractor's commitment to perfection. But when a home is extraordinary, the beauty extends beneath the surface. Behind the plaster and mouldings and fine finishes of an exceptional home, you discover the craftsmanship of countless specialists committed to the unseen integrity of every unadmired detail. Because if a home is going to finish well, it must begin with the same investment in quality.

Since 1995, Premiere Systems has been at the forefront of home technology creating exceptional living environments that extend from exterior to interior to infrastructure. For the last 23 years, founder and president, Ken Johnson, has made finishing well a foundational tenet of his business. “To achieve this,” offers Johnson, “we take the long view on every aspect of the business. We hire the right people. We set the industry standards for installation, service and project management. We attend to the smallest decisions with the same priority as we do the largest. When we do this, we are able to create beautiful, intelligent living spaces that both start and finish well.”

“Creating monumental millwork with audio visual integration is extremely challenging. Premiere's communication and cooperation was critical.”

- Thomas Riley, Artisan's Guild

“Premiere continually rose to the challenge on this incredible project - consistently exceeding our expectations from start to finish!”

- Brent Coble, Coble Builders
